CUBAN RECIPROCITY.

President Roosevelt's Message to Congress.

CALLED IN SPECIAL SESSION

Strongly Urges Favorable Action in Favor of Reciprocity and Tells Why it Should be Enacted.

AN EXCELLENT STATE PAPER

Mr. Roosevelt's message on the commercial treaty with Cuba reads as follows :

To the Senate and House of Representatives :

I have convened the Congress that it may consider the legislation necessary to put into operation the commercial treaty with Cuba, which was ratified by the Senate at its last session, and subsequently by the Cuban government.

I deem such legislation demanded not only by our interest, but by our honor. We cannot, with propriety, abandon the course upon which we have so wisely embarked.

When the acceptance of the Platt amendment was required from Cuba by the action of the Congress of the United States this government thereby definitely committed itself to the policy of treating Cuba as occupying a unique position as regards this country. It was provided that when the island became a free and independent republic she should stand in such close relations with us as in certain respects to come within our system of international policy, and it necessarily followed that she must also to a certain degree become included within the lines of our economic policy.

Situated as Cuba is, it would not be possible for this country to permit the strategic abuse of the island by any foreign military power. It is for this reason that certain limitations have been imposed upon her financial policy, and that naval stations have been conceded by her to the United States.

The negotiations as to the details of these naval stations are on the eve of completion. They are so situated as to prevent any idea that there is the intention ever to use them against Cuba or otherwise than for the protection of Cuba from the assaults of foreign foes and for the better safeguarding of American interests in the waters south of us.

These interests have been largely increased by the consequences of the war with Spain, and will be still further increased by the building of the isthmian canal. They are both military and economic.

The treaty submitted to you for approval secures to the United States economic advantages as great as those given to Cuba. Not an American interest is sacrificed. By the treaty a large Cuban market is secured to our producers. It is a market which lies at our doors which is already large, which is capable of great expansion, and which is especially important to the development of our export trade. It would be, indeed, short-sighted for us to refuse to take advantage of such an opportunity, and to force Cuba into making arrangements with other countries to our disadvantage.

This reciprocity treaty stands by itself. It is demanded on considerations of broad national policy, as well as by our economic interest. It will do harm to no industry. It will benefit many industries.

It is in the interest of our people as a whole, both because of its importance from the broad standpoint of international policy and because economically it intimately concerns us, to develop and secure the rich Cuban market for our farmers, artisans, merchants and manufacturers.

Finally, it is desirable as a guaranty of the good faith of our nation toward her young sister republic to the south, whose welfare must ever be closely bound with ours. We gave her liberty.

We must help her onward and upward, and in helping her we shall help ourselves.

The foregoing considerations caused the negotiation of the treaty with Cuba and its ratification by the Senate. They now, with equal force, support the legislation by the Congress, which, by the terms of the treaty is necessary to render it operative. A failure to enact such legislation would come perilously near a repudiation of the pledged faith of the nation.

I transmit herewith the treaty, as amended by the Senate and ratified by the Cuban government.

White House, November 10, 1903.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

A HANDSOME MEMENTO.

Ex-Superintendent S. S. Blair Remembered by Former Associates in Railroad Work.

On Friday evening a score or more of gentlemen representing the transportation department of the Tyrone Division, Pennsylvania railroad, gathered unbidden at the home of S. S. Blair on Washington Avenue, Tyrone, and as a token of their regard presented him with a massive revolving bowl resting on a pedestal, all of cut glass, a dozen cut glass cups and a solid silver ladle, the whole combining a splendid table set.

Train Master R. B. Freeman, acted as master of ceremonies and after being cordially received by Mr. and Mrs. Blair, explained the object of their meeting and introduced Yard Dispatcher W. A. Bouse who said :

Mr. Blair : The system with which you have been actively connected for fifty years says that when a man arrives at the twentieth milestones beyond the meridian of life he is to be retired from service, and so they said to you : "Lay aside your railroad activities, go home and enjoy life in the beauties and quietness of this magnificent dwelling." You came to the Tyrone Division as its superintendent when it was in its infancy, and for considerably more than a quarter of a century you have largely dictated the policy of its management. Under your wise and judicious supervision you have been permitted to watch its growth and prosperity, developments and business interests until the present time when it is no longer "the least among the sons of Jacob," Many of us present have been associated with you actively for a long period of years. We too, from the same executive power, possibly not by the same voice, will receive the same message that you have received, bidding us to cease from our railroad activities and retire to our homes. Our friendship has been unbroken, and we gather tonight, bringing this beautiful bowl as a slight token of high the regard and esteem which we have had for you, as our chief, through all these years. I say high, because I feel that it but voices the heartfelt sentiment of every gentlemen present tonight. Estimating this gift from a money standard, its value is nothing, but the friendship and kindly wishes that go with it from the donors are more precious than rubies, and we trust as you look upon it, in the oncoming years, that you will remember us kindly and ever regard us as your friends. So we now present it to you, wishing you a long, happy and prosperous life among us. I am sure that none of us present covet a higher honor than that we may come to the years of our retirement with the same degree of honor and respect as you have closed your career with the Pennsylvania Railroad company.

At the conclusion of Mr. Bouse's address Mr. Blair replied as follows :

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen : I assure you that this is indeed a pleasure as well as a surprise. I am exceedingly happy to greet you. In looking back over the long years of service with the Pennsylvania Railroad company, I realize that a superintendent is obliged to depend largely upon his subordinates for the carrying out of his plans; that his efforts can meet with success only when he can gather around him capable and trusty lieutenants. And I wish to say to you gentlemen that whatever of success I may have achieved as superintendent of Tyrone Division, has been due to your hearty co-operation and loyal support. A number of you were associated with me for many years and it is a pleasure to recall the associations of these years. I desire to thank you for this beautiful gift. I appreciate the kind spirit which prompted the giving, and it will serve as another link in the chain of remembrance by which I shall be able to contemplate the delightful associations connected with my railroad career as superintendent of Tyrone Division.

The gentlemen spent an hour pleasantly with Mr. and Mrs. Blair then retired, all wishing them many happy years of life in their beautiful new home on Washington avenue:

Will Hold a Bazaar.

The Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal church will hold a bazaar and supper the second week in December. One of the members of the league sings its praise in the following poem. The author is a West Warder where all the poets live and our friend the Poet-Laureate of the ward will have to look to his laurels.

Save your money and go to the Fair
You will find the beautiful things are there
And as you look at them it will make you stare
When you find how very cheap they are.

GREAT STRIKE ON.

Ten Thousand Miners in Colorado go Out for an 8-Hour Day.

ALSO INCREASE IN WAGES

Less Than 1,000 Men Are Now at work In the Districts in Which the Strike Order Is in Force.

UNITED MINE WORKERS' CAMPAIGN

DENVER, Col., November 10.—More than 10,000 coal miners in Colorado went on strike Monday for an eight-hour day, increased wages and other concessions. The strike was ordered by the national executive officers of the United Mine Workers of America, after the coal companies refused to confer with union representatives concerning the demand of the men. Of the idle men 6,000 are in the southern coal fields, 2,000 in the northern coal fields and 1,800 in Fremont county. One hundred mines have been closed down. A few independent properties in the northern coal fields and elsewhere will not stop work since the operators have agreed to accede the eight-hour day and also increase wages. Less than 1,000 miners will remain at work according to reports from the affected districts. The announcement comes that 600 men have gone out in Colfax county, N. M. The others in that territory are now negotiating with the mine owners.

The Colorado Fuel and Iron, Victor Fuel and Northern Coal and Coke companies are the largest producers Practically all of their property has been tied up by the action of the miners. However, they are making efforts to continue operations under the protection of a strong guard. There are about 140 coal mines in the state with an output of 8,000,000 tons of coal a year and 1,000,000 tons of coke.

It will be the policy of the United Mine Workers to depopulate the various coal districts by sending the idle men and their families to Illinois, Indian Territory, Missouri, Iowa and other states, where work has been secured for them. Some 5,000 fares in these states had already been arranged for by the United Mine Workers and yesterday hundreds of the strikers are on their way to new fields.

D. G. Evans, member of the executive board of the national organization from Indiana, is now at Trinidad to handle the financial end of the strike. Other members of the executive board are in the state and will have charge of the campaign during the struggle, one being stationed in each of the strike centres.

The storm centre will be about Trinidad and Delaga, where the Victor Coal company employs 2,500 men, it is reported that 1,000 were working Monday. Both places are strongly guarded and strangers are not allowed to enter them.

General Manager Welborne, of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company, announced Monday that the company would continue to operate its mines and the public needs have no fear of a coal famine.

The large companies operating in the northern field admitted that their mines were closed. Not over 150 men are working in the northern fields.

Despite the claims of the coal companies householders in Denver and other cities found it impossible Monday to secure a ton of coal for immediate delivery. The railroad companies claim to have enough coal stored to meet all their requirement for some time.

The state militia is held in readiness to be dispatched to the coal regions at the first call from the sheriffs of the counties affected.

Swindlers at Work.

Several men representing themselves to be employes in the Northern Central Freight Warehouse at York, have within the past few days swindled unsuspecting citizens of that town out of various sums of money. It is said that they secure about $200.

The method they employed to secured the money was to visit a house and inform their occupants that packages awaited them at the warehouses, and that they had been sent to collect the freight charges and drayage. On the strength of this story they collected from 50 cents to $2 from about fifty persons. The police are on the lookout for the men. The scheme is said to have also been worked successfully in Philadelphia, Scranton and Reading.

The Water Street Walk.

[Communicated]

Bellefonte, Nov. 9, 1903.

ED. REPUBLICAN :

I noticed in the report of Council proceedings last week that the members were talking of putting down a cement pavement along the wall just built on Water street.

I do not see what (as a citizen and tax payer) this Council means. Is it not enough to put the wall upon property that they do not own, but that they must now talk of putting down an expensive pavement likewise.

Has not the party who owns the water privilege a right to put it down; if not, is it really necessary to have a walk on that side of the street.

Would it not be just as convenient to have the walk put down on the opposite side and do away with the walk along the creek, and if the Council must put a walk down at the expense of the citizens let them put it down on the east side when it will stay, and let the understanding be that they put it down the first time, but the property owner will have to take care of it in the future.

This Council seem to be able to do what it likes and why could it not do this for the walk on the side next the creek is of as much use as the fifth wheel on a wagon unless for those trout fishers.

I think it is time for this Council to do something to stop this strain on the Borough and I think we ought to have a citizens ticket in this town.

GREEN—BLANCHARD.

Quiet Nuptial Event Which Was Celebrated Wednesday Afternoon.

A quiet but very pretty wedding was celebrated Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the Presbyterian church, the happy parties to the marriage contract being Miss Rebecca G. Blanchard of this city and Dr. George D. Green of Lock Haven.

The wedding was necessarily quiet owing to the recent death of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary Blanchard but it was never-the-less pretty and impressive.

The edifice was very prettily adorned with flowers and potted plants and as the wedding party entered the church and assumed their position before Dr. William Laurie the wedding march pealed forth rendered by Mrs. R. G. H. Hayes.

Dr. Laurie performed the ceremony, the best man being the bride's brother, Frederick Blanchard. She was attended by her two sisters, Misses Anna and Christine Blanchard.

The bride was attired in white organdy and carried a boquet of brides roses. Her bridesmaids wore white trimmed with black ribbon and carried flowers.

There were about twenty-five guests present being the immediate friends and relatives of the bride and groom.

After the ceremony Dr. and Mrs. Green departed on a wedding tour to eastern cities.

REPUBLIC OF PANAMA.

Revolutionary Junta Issues a Stirring Manifesto.

A CASE OF SELF PRESERVATION

In Order to Work Out Their Own Destination the Isthmians Had to Detach Themselves from Columbia.

CITIZENS THERE ARE JUBILANT

PANAMA, Colombia, November 6.—The revolutionary junta Wednesday night published a manifesto addressed to the citizens of the republic of Panama saying that the inhabitants of the Isthmus had done what was inevitable in view of a situation which was becoming graver daily. It was pointed out that notwithstanding the grievances inflicted on the Isthmians by their Colombian brothers, the former had suffered with resignation for the sake of harmony and the union, and in view of the fact that reparation was possible so long as hopes could be entertained of an improvement in the situation and of the Isthmus ultimately making effective progress under Colombian rule. Under the late system of Colombian government the inhabitants of the Isthmus had been governed with the narrow-mindedness which in days gone by had been applied to American colonies by the powers of Europe.

The manifesto then refers to the fact that the Isthmus of Panama netted Colombia large sums in customs dues, adding that while the junta did not wish in this exposition of facts, which would be handed down to posterity, to be regarded as being moved by a mercenary spirit, nevertheless it was but just to point out that in spite of the large sums of money collected from the Isthmus for fiscal purposes, the latter had not received the benefit of a single road between any of the towns of the Isthmus, the erection of any public buildings, the establishment of a single college, nor of any other step tending to advance the industries or intellectual development of Panama, as not even the most infinitesimal part of the large sums collected had been applied towards benefiting Panama in any shape or form.

The failure of the Hay-Herrian canal treaty to meet with approval of the Congress at Bogota is then touched upon. It is then pointed out that only a few public men were opposed to the treaty, and that opposition was due to the fact that it was alleged that Panama would be the only part of the country which would receive direct benefits from building an inter-oceanic canal. The manifesto then continues:

"The people of the Isthmus, in view of this notorious situation, have decided to recover their sovereignty in order to work out their own destiny and to insure the future of Panama in a manner in keeping with the evident destiny of the country, its vast territory and its immense riches. The initiators of the movement aspire to assist in this work and also to take part in the foundation of a republic where the law shall be the unfailing guide of those who are governed, where effective peace will be established, and in which all interests will join in the work of civilization and progress, which must result in perpetual stability.

"At the beginning of the life of this independent nation we fully appreciate the responsibilities which the present state of affairs means, but we have profound faith in the good sense and patriotism of the Isthmians and we believe that they possess sufficient energy to open the way by their labor to a happy future, without worry or danger.

"The separation of the Isthmus from Colombia was accomplished without any feeling of hatred or any sentiment of joy. Just as a son withdraws from the paternal roof, the Isthmian people, taking their chosen path, have separated themselves from Colombia. They did it with grief, but they complied with their supreme, inevitable duty, that of looking to their own future of attending to their own preservation.

"We therefore now begin to form one of the free nations of the world. We consider Colombia as being a sister nation, with which we shall be in sympatny whenever circumstances may require it, and for whose prosperity we have the most fervent and sincere wishes."

Conditions Indicating Frost

On a still night the colder air, being more dense and consequently heavier, rests on the surface and surrounds the plants, thus increasing their liability to frost. Owing to this fact a thermometer close to the ground will frequently read from five to eight degrees lower than one eight to ten feet higher. There are three essential conditions favorable to the formation of frosts. A clear sky, dry air and a still night.

NINE MEN DEAD.

Fatal Fire in the Kearsarge Mine Near Virginia City, Nevada

FLAMES START IN A TUNNEL

Among the Dead is Superintendent R. B. Turner, Who With Another Man, Fell Down a Shaft,

5 BODIES HAVE BEEN RECOVERED

BUTTE, Mont., November 7.—A Virginia City special to the Miner, says fire in the Kearsarge mine, six miles from Virginia City, Friday killed nine men. The damage to surface buildings is slight. Among the dead is Superintendent R. B. Turner, of Butte, one of the best known mining men in the northwest. Five bodies have been recovered up to Tuesday night.

All the dead miners are from Butte and were single men.

The Kearsarge is one of the principa gold mines of the state and is considered valuable. It is operated by the Alder Mining company.

The fire was discovered issuing from the tunnel house on tunnel No. 1. The timbers in the tunnel were ablaze. At the first alarm all the miners, carpenters and laborers, some 170 in all, hastened across the gulch to aid in subduing the flames. Superintendent R. B. Turner, whose temporary quarters are high on the hill across the right fork of Alder gulch and a short distance from the burning tunnel house, at once went to the scene and assumed the direction of affairs, entered the tunnel through the fire and smoke to give warning to the entombed miners and to aid in their escape. According to the story of a miner named Hurley, he with Turner and another man entered the mine but descended through the air shaft. Hurley was the last of three to descend. After going down some distance through the air-shaft Hurley heard a cry and then found that Turner and the other man had fallen to the bottom of the shaft.

Hurley tried to go further down the shaft but was compelled to retrace his steps. Up to a late hour the bodies of Allen, Tobin, Powers and Donnelly were not recovered, Mr. Turner has been connected with the company for many years as superintendent of the Kennel mine.

Apples as Medicine.

The apple is such a common fruit that very few persons are familiar with its remarkable efficacious medicinal properties, says the Philadelphia Record. Everybody ought to know that the very best thing he can do is to eat apples just before retiring for the night. Persons uninitiated in the mysteries of the fruit are liable to throw up their hands in horror at the visions of dyspepsia which such a suggestion may summon up, but no harm can come even to a delicate system by the eating of ripe and juicy apples just before going to bed. The apple is an excellent brain food, because it has more phosphoric acid in easily digestible shape than any other vegetable known. It excites the action os the liver, promotes sound and healthy sleep, and thoroughly disinfects the mouth. This is not all. The apple agglutinates the surplus acids of the stomach, helps the kidney secretions, and prevents calculus growths, while it obviates indigestion and is one of the best preventives known of diseases of the throat. Everybody should be familiar with such knowledge. In addition, next to the orange and the lemon, it is the best antidote for the thirst and craving of the person addicted to the alcoholic or opium habit.

Cambria County Out of Funds.

Altoona, Nov. 7—Cambria county is "dead broke." Wednesday there was not a dollar in the treasury at Ebensburg. The taxes collected during the past three months were applied to paying current expenses and indebtedness previously contracted.

For some time the Cambria county commissioners had arranged with the banks of Ebensburg and Johnstown to honor orders of the treasury which would be paid with interest. The money was turned in by the collectors. Recently the banks served notice that this practice would be discontinued and that if the county wanted money it must get it by a regular loan.

Wednesday nearly a hundred election officers turned up at Ebensburg with their returns and presented their bills to Treasurer Heffley, for about $3,000 for election expenses. There being no money in the vaults they could not be paid. The only thing to be done was for the county commissioners to O. K. their bills and make arrangements to pay them later.

A temporary loan will be made to tide the county over its difficulties.

ANXIOUS MOMENTS.

Some of the most anxious hours of a mother's life are those when the little ones of the household have the croup. There is no other medicine so effective in this terrible malady as Foley's Honey and Tar. It is a household favorite for throat and lung troubles, and as it contains no opiates or other poisons, it can be safely given. C. M. Parrish.

Impaired Digestion

May not be all that is meant by dyspepsia now, but it will be if neglected.

The uneasiness after eating, fits of nervous headache, sourness of the stomach, and disagreeable belching may not be very bad now, but they will be if the stomach is suffered to grow weaker.

Dyspepsia is such a miserable disease that the tendency to it should be given early attention. This is completely overcome by which strengthens the whole digestive system

Hood's Sarsaparilla

HOW OLD IS ANN?

The Result of the Recent Election is of Minor Consequence Now.

"Let the heathen rage. Let the kings of the earth set themselves and the rulers take council together." The question that really bothers most is: How old is Ann?

Mary is 24 years old. Mary is twice as old as Ann was when Mary was as old as Ann is now. How old is Ann?

No News reader has yet ventured an answer to the question recently propounded, but the Chicago Tribune is willing to lend its services. Hear it:

Let Muken and Antung on the Yalu river in the land of the Manchus be opened to the commerce of the world. Or let them be closed to the commerce of the world. Let Chamberlain amuse himself by building a mud pie dike around the British empire. Let astronomers and economists quarrel about the connections between sun spots and financial panics. Only the leisure class has time for trifles such as these. The vital question of today is: How old is Ann?

A group of men, big men, commercial giants, is seen in the cornor of the club. Their heads are close together. The whole arch of the business world finds its keynote in their conversation. Will they plunge us in the abysm of disaster, or will they lift us up to the solid ground of prosperity? A reporter steals up behind him to learn our fate He crouches behind an adjoining table "O you're way off. If Ann is twice as young as Mary used to be when Ann was the same age that she is now, just let x equal the comparative ages of both and you see that 2x minus Ann's real age will equal the age of both girls put together and therefore Ann—"

There is no use having Congress meet until Ann's age is decided. Or perhaps, Congress would do better to meet and pass a law suppressing the Ann puzzle along with the anarchist papers. Otherwise industrial operations will come to a standstill. Street cars can't get by each other any longer because the motormen are exchanging new solutions. Employers think their employes have gone on a strike, and are rioting on the streets when all that they are doing is discussing Ann and the number of her summers. The Democratic party is threatened with another split: The National association of archaeologists broke up in a row. Dunning and Kankakee have built new extensions. How old is Ann.

The real solution of course is this: Mary being twice as old as Ann was at the time when her age, multiplied by two, equaled the combined ages of the two girls minus the age of the younger, of the two and Ann being the younger, and, therefore, older than Mary, provided Mary's age be deducted from hers, the former age of the two girls when divided by two will equal the age at which Mary was—

Here come the handcuffs. The solution will be completed as soon as a verdict of sanity is returned by the jury. The jury will say: "Mary is twice as old as she used to be when Ann was twice as old as she is now, and the prisoner is perfectly sane and Ann is too young to be indicted and Mary is old enough to know better."

The Regulars in Camp.

One of the thoroughly organized hunting parties on the South Side of Potter township is the "Regular." It has among its members hunters who are immune from buck fever and other kin diseases. This party is now in camp at "Tar Pit," east of Stone creek gap, and while the members are not all there at present they will answer to the morning and evening roll call before camp is broken.

The members of this organization, in times past, have performed some notable feats, and they will no doubt repeat their correctness of aim and killing powers when an opportunity is again presented. The members of the Regulars are:

James Reish, John Wilkinson, D. R. Sweetwood, Wm. Workinger, S. W Johnston, Harry Wilkinson, W. H. Lucas, Joseph Gilliland, W. O. Rearick, Rev. W. W. Rhoads, H. F. Musser, Wm. M Grove, Esq. A guest of Rev. Rhoads named Gardner is also in camp.

A REMARKABLE CASE.

One of the most remarkable cases of a cold, deep-seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs. Gertrude E. Fenner, Marion, Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. She says: "The coughing and straining so weakened me that I ran down in weight from 148 to 92 pounds. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength." Sold by Green's Pharmacy.

I suffered intensely from pains in my back and lameness across my kidneys. Statements in this paper about Doan's Kidney Pills attracted my attention and I called at F. Potts Green's drug store and got a box. They did me a great deal of good although I did not take them as regularly as I should for the moment the pains ceased and I felt better I stopped taking them. They gave me the greatest relief and I can give them the credit of saving me much suffering".

OSTRICH LOGIC.

"When I can't see danger there is no danger." That's the logic of the ostrich which hides its head and exposes its body to the hunter. There are not a few people who seem to have gone to the ostrich to learn logic. The most dangerous enemies of humanity are the enemies which can't be seen, the disease breeding microbes which infect the blood. It is harder to get the microbe out of the blood than to keep it out, but Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does both, by purifying the blood and then keeping it pure.

If there are eruptions on the skin, boils, pimples, sores or other signs of impure blood, use Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which will purify the blood and cure the eruptions which come from it.

"My blood was all out of order, and I had to go to the doctor," writes Mrs. James R. Moss, New Loudon, Stanly Co., N.C. "He gave me medicine which helped me for a short time. In the winter of 1895 I got worse than I had ever been. My tonsils were enlarged and my neck swollen all out of shape; my throat was sore and I could not cure it. My husband went for the doctor, but he gave me no encouragement. He helped me a little, but it did not last long. He attended me for twelve months, when I heard of a lady whose condition was like mine, who was taking your medicine and was getting well. So I secured some of the medicine and began taking it. In one week I was able to do my cooking. When I began taking the medicine I could sit up only a few minutes at a time, and I could rest or sleep only a little while at a time. My throat was so sore at times I could not even swallow sweet milk, and my tonsils were full of little eating sores. My left side was swollen out of shape and I could hardly get my breath. The doctor said I would not get well, but three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, three bottles of his 'Pellets,' three bottles of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy and the use of salt water did the work and cured me."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation and its consequences.

Fatal Accident.

On Wednesday, Oct. 28, as James Mowery, son of Samuel Mowery, of Fiedler, was hauling lumber with his father's team from Kelster's sawmill along Pine creek, he was thrown off the wagon and the front wheel went over his body. He managed to crawl from under the wagon before the hind wheel caught him and stop the team. He then walked to W. H. Steffen's house close by, where in telling what had occurred he fell to the floor. Mr. Steffen hurriedly went for his father who came and took him home. Dr. C. S. Musser was summoned and after an examination found that the young man was seriously hurt internally. He lived until Thursday morning when death relieved him from his suffering. His age was 17 years, 7 months and 5 days.

Funeral services were held on Sunday Rev. I. N. Bair officiating and interment was made in the Woodward cemetery.

Fresh Air and Sound Health.

There are many persons who seem afraid of the fresh air. A little rain, a little wind, a little fog, a little chill in the air will keep them within doors. Going out, they bundle up in clothes so thickly that one would think they were tender shrubs transplanted from some more genial clime. The healthy people, however, are not the health cranks, not the people who run to the doctor every time they feel an ache. They are the people who walk a great deal in the fresh air, who live in the open as much as they can, and who take a vacation in the country every year.

Constables are Game Wardens.

Constables should acquaint themselves with the act of 1899 which makes them game wardens in their respective bailiwicks. It is their sworn duty to enforce the game laws and they should be diligent in the discharge of their duty because game is becoming scarcer and scarcer on account of the vast amount of game killed out of season.

A circular just issued by the game commission says: "Constables receive, besides the regular fees, $10 for every arrest and conviction of fish, fire or game offenders. Half is paid by the county, and the other half by the state. The law says they shall make quarterly returns to court of all such offenses, and it is the duty of the judges to see that they make these reports.

Cause of Yawning.

Yawning is commonly caused by a temporary deficiency of the air supply in the lungs. When the body is weary with hard and continuous work or mental study, lassitude from the effects of close, heavy air or intense heat, or perhaps from the peculiar state of the health, the respiratory process is sometimes involuntarily stayed for a few moments. To compensate for this stoppage of breathing nature steps in to the rescue and sets up a spasmodic action in the muscles of the mouth, throat and chest, which produces a deep inspiration which takes the form of a yawn.

Goose Bone Prophet Retires.

Elias Hartz, Reading's goose bone weather prophet, announces his retirement. He was 88 years old on Nov. 5th, and gave public notice that he will no longer forecast the weather by the reading of the goose bone. "I am getting too old to get around," he said. "I was taught how to read the bone and foretell the weather by Nathaniel Dickinson when I was twelve years old. Since then I have been watching the bone, and I must say truthfully that my predictions seldom failed."

Man Ground to Pieces by Railroad Train.

John C. Casey, of Williamsport, was ground to pieces by a train near bridge No. 5 on the Northern Central. His mangled body was found early Friday morning. The corpse was so frightfully mangled that identity was impossible owing to the mutilation of the head, body and limbs. The legs and arms were each severed into several pieces, the trunk was cut into two pieces and the head crushed out of all semblance to its former shape. In fact the entire body was literally ground to pieces. All the clothes were torn into shreds.

A letter, written by his sister and found in the pocket of his coat, gave the first clue as to the identity of the unfortunate young man. Besides being addressed to John Casey the letter was written on business paper used by Michael Casey, the well known contractor of Williamsport, who is the father of the deceased. The unfortunate man was aged 38 years and unmarried.

Pennsy Employes Must Be Uniformed.

A sweeping order requiring nearly all Pennsy employes to wear uniforms has been sent out by General Manager W. W. Atterbury. Some of the men think that from the dirty nature of their work they cannot keep their uniforms, which are rather expensive, clean. The following employes will hereafter be obliged to wear uniforms: Agents, station masters, passenger conductors, train agents, baggage masters, passenger brakemen, ticket examiners, baggage agents and assistants, checkmen, gatemen, usher, special officers, police officers, watchmen, cab agents, baggage porters, cleaners, station porters, cabmen, dining and parlor car conductors, porters, waiters attendants, mail wagon drivers, messenger boys. A provision of the order is for the wearing of white collars and cuffs, and keeping of coats buttoned.

Mansion Home to Become House of Worship.

Ex-Mayor W. G. Elliott, of Williamsport, sold his home at the corner of West Fourth and Elmira streets to the newly organized Congregational church for $20,000. It is the intention of the Congregationalists to convert the mansion into a house of worship, as soon as they get possession on March 15, 1904. The house was built by ex Congressman W. H. Armstrong from 1863 to 1866 and cost Mr. Armstrong $40,000.

Putting food into a diseased stomach is like putting money into a pocket with holes. The money is lost. All its value goes for nothing. When the stomach is diseased, with the allied organs of digestion and nutrition, the food which is put into it is largely lost. The nutriment is not extracted from it. The body is weak and the blood improverished.

The pocket can be mended. The stomach can be cured. That sterling medicine for the stomach and blood, Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, acts with peculiar promptness and power on the organs of digestion and nutrition. It is a positive cure for almost all disorders of these organs, and cures also such disease of the heart, blood, liver and other organs, as have their cause in a weak or disease condition of the stomach.

Latest In Hairdressing.

The "smartest" women, married or single, are wearing their hair low on the neck, says the New York Press. Some of the extremists have it sprawled over the shoulders in the loosest possible knot. The examples of Miss Elsie Whelen, Mrs. E. Moore Robinson and Mrs. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt may be cited. With evening gowns these women are returning to the old fashioned "waterfall" of a half century ago. Soon we may see women in public with their hair "a-hanging down their backs." Last summer when Miss Schenck and Miss Roche wore their hair in plaits "just for the fun of the thing," nobody took them seriously, but in the wake of these pigtails has come the low coiffure. The hairdressers are promoting this fashion with enthusiasm, as few women have the art of arranging their own low knots.

Effect of Athletic Exercises on Girls.

It is beginning to be suspected, says the Chicago Record-Herald, that the gymnastic exercises which make a young man graceful and supple and vigorous tend to produce in a young woman leanness and stiffness and angularity, besides being a menace to the delicate adjustments of her anatomy, and it has been discovered to be clearly evident that a girl's college yell should without a doubt be set to music.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood.

If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

PLUCKY LAD'S AMBITION.

Sets Himself Rules of Life and Starts Out to Earn an Education.

Sixteen-year-old Harold Bember Parker of Lowell, Mass., arrived at Poughkeepsie recently after wandering from academy to academy seeking a chance to work for his board and an opportunity to study, says the New York World. In his dress suit case he carried a small card, which he produced as his guide in life. On the card was pasted a set of rules, clipped from a newspaper and said to have been pasted by Baron Rothschild in his bank. They read as follows:

Shun liquor.
Dare to go forward.
Never be discouraged.
Be polite to everybody.
Employ your time well.
Never tell business lies.
Pay your debts promptly.
Be prompt in everything.
Bear all troubles patiently.
Do not reckon upon chance.
Make no useless acquaintances.
Be brave in the struggle of life.
Maintain your integrity as a sacred thing.
Never appear to be something more than you are.
Take time to consider; then decide positively.
Carefully examine into every detail of your business.

"My mother is a poor widow," the lad said, "and after I had reached the second grade in the grammar school she found she would need my help. There was nothing for me to do but go to work in one of the Lowell mills. I started out to look for a job, and on my way I thought of the rules I found. I said to myself: 'If I go to work in a mill in Lowell, that will be the last of me. I must get an education before I can hope to be anybody or any big service to my mother.' I turned back and never went near the mill.

"A friend of my mother told her that I might get a chance at Newton school at Newton, N. J. I went there and worked six weeks, but found that I could not earn money enough to pay for such clothes as the professor told me I must have. I bought a football rig, and that used up my money, for I had earned only $35. I packed up and left Newton and went to Nyack. There was no room for me in the preparatory school there. The proprietor is the same man who owned the Newton school when Mr. Holly, who now publishes the Harvard Catalogue, was there and worked his way through school.

"I went from Nyack to Tarrytown, and the principal of the preparatory school there told me he had no place for me, but would write to my mother. At Peekskill the principal told me the same thing. Then I came to Poughkeepsie, hoping to get a chance in Riverview Military academy. I am obliged to sleep in the police station now, but I am not discouraged."

WARNING TO SPOONERS.

Osculation In Public Leads to Arrest In Wisconsin.

Carroll college trustees have announced that any pupil caught kissing a girl on the school steps will be expelled, says a Milwaukee dispatch. The evil at Carroll is said to be even greater than at Janesville, where the kissing matches were so noisy and so prolonged that they kept people awake until the small hours of the morning.

At Carroll the "spoonies" are not satisfied with kissing each other after dark, but insist on stolen osculations in the dark corners of the halls by day as well.

"The loving game is too strong," was the way the college janitor expressed it, "and has got to stop."

The janitor's complaint to the faculty was supported, and he was ordered to report every case where a smack was heard. The trouble at Janesville was due to the complaints of people living near the school that they were unable to sleep because of it. Hereafter the police will arrest for disorderly conduct all kissing students.

The city council of Ashland also has passed an ordinance making public kissing a misdemeanor.

Novel Work For Submarines.

The schools of porpoise off the coast of Brittany are playing havoc with the fish. Recently certain cruisers of the French navy were sent out to practice on the "sea pigs" with their secondary batteries. The experiment was a failure. Now it is proposed to use the submarine as the only weapon with which war can be waged successfully against the pest. Bombs will be shot from the tubes into the fish and blow them to pieces.

Joy Destroying Beans.

Mrs. Arabella Elliott of Kokomo, Ind., recently testified in court that for two years of her married life her husband, Henry H. Elliott, insisted that they should live on beans, says the Chicago Record-Herald. They had beans for breakfast, beans for dinner and beans for supper. It was beans, beans, beans until she heard the rattling of beans in the flapping of the vines against the corner of the dear little cottage. She had beans in her dreams, and in her waking fancies all the world became a pod, and all the men and women in it were merely beans. Finally she got Mr. Elliott to change off to potatoes, but he pined for beans, and, fearing that he would insist on returning to them, she sued for divorce.

A Coat of Kid.

A novel garment affected just now by the belles of Vienna and Paris is a small tight fitting coat made of suede kid. It is worn with very smart traveling gowns, and its appearance is thought to indicate the revival of fitted coats in general. Kid is quite a favorite just now, when one reflects upon the pretty crush girdles made of it and that it is even used to face the brims of hats.

Proverbs

"When the butter won't come put a penny in the churn," is an old time dairy proverb. It often seems to work though no one has ever told why.

When mothers are worried because the children do not gain strength and flesh we say give them Scott's Emulsion.

It is like the penny in the milk because it works and because there is something astonishing about it.

Scott's Emulsion is simply a milk of pure cod liver oil with some hypophosphites especially prepared for delicate stomachs.

Children take to it naturally because they like the taste and the remedy takes just as naturally to the children because it is so perfectly adapted to their wants.

For all weak and pale and thin children Scott's Emulsion is the most satisfactory treatment.

We will send you the penny, i. e., a sample free.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

SCOTT & BOWNE,

If Mr. Carnegie clings to his steel stock he may yet realize his ideal of dying a poor man.

In Spain a field laborer receives on an average of 28 cents a day as wages, and this is without board.

The new motor power which is being tried on the New York canals is called the "electric mule."

The amiable idiots, who make wheelbarrow bets on elections have been active in New York, Maryland and Ohio.

A Kansas preacher has been barred from his pulpit because he argued that man could live sanctified and sinless.

People who sleep in Pullman palace (pest) cars, now have the satisfaction of knowing that the blankets are washed twice a year.

Ex-Captain Algeron Sartoris, a grandson of General Grant, talks more like a grandson of "Don Quixote" about annexation of Canada.

A piano player in Baltimore is pounding out a fifty hours stunt, and this added to the political din must make it lively in My Maryland.

The Duke of Roxburghe, who captured an American heiress, insists with Dowie that American reporters are an inquisitive and beastly lot.

The man who manufactures the "Equality buttons," representing President Roosevelt at dinner with Booker Washington, does not expect a large sale in the South.

Revolutions, over-production and other untoward circumstances have disturbed industrial conditions in Columbia. Better inaugurate an era of prosperity by starting the canal.

Only 8.3 per cent of the German-born males in the United States have failed to become naturalized, while 53 per cent of the Italians and 80 per cent of the Japanese are still aliens.

The "Mirror" is the appropriate name of the first daily paper published exclusively for women, which has just come out in London. The proprietor declares that the journal will be feminine but not effeminate.

The Senate which convenes this week will have two septuagenarian bridegrooms, Stewart of Nevada and Platt of New York. Senator Pettus of Alabama, aged 82, is the only widower who has so far resisted his admirers among the fair sex.

Our Pension roles contain the names of only five living Revolutionary War pensioners, three having died during the past year. They are all women, the oldest is 103 and the youngest 82. By this rule we may expect to be paying Civil War pensions to widows for at least one hundred years. There are many chits of 16 anxious to worry a foot-in-the-grave veteran of his pension.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11, 1903.

Events in Panama are being watched here with close interest; and it is the general opinion that the revolution will be successful and that the new Republic del Ismo (Republic of the Isthmus) will succeed in establishing its independence, and gaining its recognition by this country: The secession of Panama from Colombia was almost a foregone conclusion after the Bogota government rejected the canal treaty. Panama is geographically separate from Colombia and the interests of the two states are antagonistic, so that when Colombia attempted to block the canal, a separation was inevitable. Panama has declared her independence, adopted a red, white and blue flag, placed a triumvirat in charge of the government, expelled all the Colombian troops, who would not join in the revolution, and has now received a partial recognition by the United States. American warships have arrived at each side of the Isthmus, marines have been landed and this country has made clear its purpose to maintain an open traffic on the isthmus, as it is oblized to do by the treaty of 1846: This treaty was signed with New Granada, a nation of which Colombia is the remaining fraction. In addition to the obligation of our goverment to maintain open traffic across the isthmus at all times, we agreed also to guarantee New Granada (now Colombia) in its sovereignty and property on the Isthmus. We have recognized the de facto government on the Isthmus and authorized our consular officers to do business with it. Senator Cullom, chairman of the Senate Committee of Foreign Relations, is deeply interested in the revolution and says he hopes a government will be established so that the United States can negotiate a capal treaty and proceed with the construction. His opinion is generally adherred to at the Capital. In recognizing the sovereignty of the new republic we should have to consider it as the part of New Granada to which the treaty of 1846 applied, just as we now consider Columbia. Panama is a very small state, about 250,000 inhabitants, and if independent, it would come under the virtual protectorate, if not into actual possession of the United States. This is the opinion held by the European powers and in their desire to see the canal completed they seem to make no objection to the Isthmus coming under the control of the United States.

The elections last Tuesday brought much satisfaction to republican politicians here, who are still discussing them with reference to their effect on the presidential campaign next fall. The grand victory in Ohio insures Senator Hanna's reelection for another senatorial term, completely discredits Tom Johnson as a political leader, and shows that the state will be a stronghold for the party next fall. In Massachusetts the democrats were prevented from getting control of a republican state and the political ambitions of Richard Olney were quieted forever. In New York city the municipal campaign became a partyone, and of course the democrats won. They always carry the city, but seldom the state. The republicans made many gains in the rest of the state and added to their majority in the legislature. The democratic alliance with Tammany is certain to injure their party, and New York State will no doubt remain in the republican column next fall. The democrats carried Maryland on the race issue. Maryland has strong southern sympathies, is usually democratic and the republicans in the state were disunited by a quarrel between Senator McComas and Representative Mudd. The party defeat in the state should prove a lesson to the republicans in both Maryland and Delaware, and show them that if they wish to share in the party's success next fall, they must put aside their local differences and unite on the national issues. As far as the democratic presidential nomination is concerned, those men who have gained the most by the elections are Hearst and Gorman. With the exception of Hearst's papers, the entire press of New York city was against Tammany, and now the successful candidates are calling attention to this fact and expressing their gratitude to Representative Hearst. As Mayor-elect McClellan was born in Saxony he is not eligible for the nomination and he will no doubt support Hearst, who is making great efforts to win the labor vote. Senator Gorman has the prestige of having carried his state, and is the champion of the Southern attitude on the race question. He is regarded as a "safe" candidate and the "money power" is said to favor him. It may be Gorman or Hearst or perhaps Gorman and Hearst, or may be Hearst and Gorman.

The annual report of the governor of Hawaii has been received by the Secretary of the Interior. It shows that there has been an increase in commerce in the Territory, advises that a limited imigration of Chinese be allowed, and recommends a slight duty on coffee to protect the native planter who is unable to compete with the foreign importers. The population of the Territory is composed of Hawaiian, Portugeese, Japanese, Chinese, Scandinavian, Spanish, British German and American. There are many marriages between Hawaiian women and white men and a few between Hawaiian women and Chinamen. The offsprings of both classes of marriages seem to be an improvement on the pure Hawaiian. Unless there is an increased immigration from America, there is grave danger that owing to the numerical inferiority of Angle Saxons, the islands will come under the complete control of the Oriental races. The public schools have done more than anything else to lessen race prejudice in the Territory, and the mixed populations seem to get on well together. Under the recent militia law passed by Congress, the Hawaiians have undertaken to build up a strong and efficient National Guard.

FIRE AT MILL HALL.

Handsome Residence of A. C. Mann Destroyed by the Flames.

Mill Hall Nov., 9.—The handsome residence of A. C. Mann, superintendent of the American axe and tool works, was totally destroyed by fire Friday night, together with its contents. The fire broke out about 10 o'clock and the flames made such headway that it was impossible to save any of the contents of the building. Mr. Mann returned in the evening from a hunting trip and retire early. Mrs. Mann and the other members of the family were at Mackeyville, where they had been during Mr. Mann's absence.

Orrin Patterson, who is in the employ of Mr. Mann, started a fire in the furnace that heats the building. About 10 o'clock Mr Mann was awakened by his room filling with smoke. He arose and opened a window and then hastily put on his clothing and made his escape from the burning building by getting on a porch roof, from which he jumped to the ground, a distance of about 15 feet. When he alighted upon the ground he received a severe gash on his forehead. The alarm was given by the blowing of the axe factory whistle and the ringing of the fire bell. The fire company responded promptly, but the spread of the flames had been so rapid that nothing could be done to stop their headway and the efforts of the firemen were directed to the saving of adjoining property.

The home of Mr. Mann was the finest building in Mill Hall and was handsomely furnished throughout. The loss is estimated at $10,000, on which there is $7,100 insurance—$3,300 of which is placed with the agency of Gearhart & Company and $3,800 with the agency of A. W. McCormick of Lock Haven. The house was practically rebuilt about five years ago and was a beautiful structure. The fire is supposed to have originated from the furnace becoming overheated.

The members of the family lost all their clothing. Fortunately, when Mrs. Mann went to Mackeyville she took her jewelry and diamonds with her. She did not receive the news of the destruction of the residence until Saturday morning. The family will make their home with John Taylor and wife for the present. Mr. Mann states that the residence will be rebuilt.

A Distressing Accident.

Merlin Winkleblech, the 19 year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Winkleblech, of Renovo, met with an accident Friday at Reberberg, Centre county, which may cause the loss of one of his legs.

The young man was out hunting with a companion, says the Renovo News, and while passing through some brush the latter's gun was accidentally discharged and a heavy load of shot struck young Winkleblech in the calf of the leg. The wound was a bad one and it may be necessary to amputate the leg to save the boy's life. Young Winkleblech has been attending school at Rebersburg since the opening of the fall term and is a bright boy.

Mr. and Mrs. Winkleblech's daughter, Sadie, is not expected to live, and their son's unfortunate accident in addition to this makes their lot a hard one.

Body Found in a Fish Basket.

Lewistown, Pa., Nov 11.—The body of the man found in a fish basket in the river, near Millerstown, Nov. 2, has been identified as that of Henry Linthurst, aged 75, of Philadelphia, missing since October 23, on which date he left the residence of Mrs. Thos. Smith, 4381 Leidy street, Philadelphia, to go down town shopping. This morning his daughter identified the remains. It is supposed that Mr. Linthurst started to walk from Philadelphia to this place to visit his son, W. W. Linthurst, and fell into the river. He was seen in the vicinity a few days before the body was found and remarked to one that he was going down along the river to take a rest. Mr. Linthurst, was formerly a resident of Philipsburg.

—Nothing so fully proves that a life well spent is the surest passport to a brighter and better world as to see such a life rounding out the final years of its existence and the most excruciating pain and all the while remaining happy, cheerful and contented. With nothing to regret for the past and nothing to fear for the future the closing scenes of such a life resembles the calm sunset of a balmy day that it may rise the brighter on the coming morning.

—Mrs. John S. Barner, of Susquehanna township, sister-in-law of Absalom Barner, tried and acquitted on the charge of murdering Adam Goodling, in Juniata county, two and a half years ago, was shot and killed by some unidentified person in ambush at her home on Friday. The tragedy was enacted while Mrs. Barner was aiding her husband in some work about the barn. She fell almost at her husband's feet.

—No matter how long you have had the cough; if it hasn't already developed into consumption, Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup will cure it.

BOY CHARMER OF HORSES.

Legless Youth Causes Senator Fairbanks to Nearly Miss His Train.

Legless Joe Harty, a fifteen-year-old newsboy, whose post is in front of the Auditorium theater in Chicago, counts among his best friends the "cabby" horses stationed in front of the Auditorium Annex hotel on the opposite side of the street, says the Chicago Inter Ocean. His friendship is reciprocated by the dumb animals, and thereby hangs a tale of how a United States senator missed his train a few nights ago.

Senator Fairbanks, anxious to catch a train for Indianapolis, rushed out of the Annex entrance about 5:30 o'clock the other evening and looked about for the carriage he had engaged to take him to the station. He scanned the line of carriages, but the one he had engaged was not to be seen among them. Then the senator glanced across the road and saw as picturesque a sight of city life as may be imagined.

The carriage was standing in front of the theater, and almost beneath the feet of the horse was legless Joe patting the animal and talking to it, and he was doing something also which the senator did not see until he crossed the street. The boy was feeding the horse lump sugar.

"Isn't that an expensive habit?" the boy was asked.

"Maybe," he replied, "but I like the horses, and they like me. See?"

And then the crippled youth called out, "Charlie!" Another horse on the opposite side of the road pricked up its ears, strolled across the road and got his share of the sweets.

"The horses all know him," said the cabbies. "We can't keep them at their stands when he is around."

LAND OF THE NEW REPUBLIC

Dimensions of Panama and Its Resources.

Panama, the South American state which has proclaimed its independence of Colombia, includes the isthmus of Panama to the confines of Costa Rica, and its area is 32,380 square miles, says the Philadelphia Public Ledger. About half the territory, principally in the middle and western parts, is settled. The remainder is peopled only by a few roving Indians. The grazing industry has attained some importance in the western districts; agriculture is everywhere backward, and the manufactures are insignificant.

Gold is mined in small quantities, and coal and other minerals are reported. The forests are rich in cabinet woods. The pearl fisheries of the Pacific coast have existed since the conquest and are still important.

Panama was the first region in continental America settled by Europeans. The isthmus was incorporated with the vice royalty of New Granada in 1718. It was independent from 1857 to 1860. The population at the last enumeration (1885) was 315,000.

The capital and largest city is Panama, founded in 1519 by Pedro Arias Davila. Its population is 25,000. The old city, six miles southeast of the present one, was burned in 1670 by Henry Morgan, the buccaneer. This is now marked only by ruins. The new city has suffered greatly from revolutions and fires.

Among the interesting buildings are the cathedral, one of the largest in America; convents and the palace of the audiencia. The climate is warm and damp, but more healthful than that of other parts of the isthmus.

NEW SUNDAY SCHOOL PLAN

Boston Church Adopts a System Like That of Secular Schools.

Trinity church in Boston instituted its new method of Sunday school work the other day, says the New York Times. In a general sense it is an adaptation of secular school methods to those of the Sunday school.

Discipline will be strictly maintained. truancy will not be permitted, and punctuality in attendance is to be required, as in the public schools. Pupils who cannot fulfill the requirements will be dropped from the school roll. The object of the new system is to afford the children and young people who attend the school a religious education as thorough, or as nearly thorough as possible, as that afforded in the secular curriculum.

The school year will be divided into three terms—Advent, from Oct. 1 to Christmas; Lent, from the first Sunday in January to Palm Sunday, and Trinity, from the Sunday after Easter to the last Sunday in May.

Game Bird Pins.

Anything symbolic of hunting and horsemanship will be fashionable for women's gewgaws and some diamond pins showing grouse, partridge and quail are the most correct things of the day, says the New York Press. Modish women will have their collars fastened with one of these "sporty" pins that have superseded cut crystal. These pins of solid diamonds set in platinum are most expensive, and a well outlined pheasant is appraised at $500, which is a large price, considering that the vogue of these game bird pins is ephemeral. Diamond dogs and horses are also in demand, but are not so new as the birds.

Aladdin's Bag.

"Aladdin's bag" is the designation given by a bright woman to the family scrap bag, into which go in the course of the year all the odds and ends after dressmaking or general sewing. It has proved a genuine treasure trove on more than one occasion, and a recent inspection revealed enough braid, ribbon and other accessories for the fashioning of a hat for her young daughter.

SNOW SHOE.

The Methodists held a Box Social at Alfred Thompson's on Wednesday night of this week.

Tommy Dale the enterprising tea agent surprised everybody last Friday by bringing home a certain Mrs. Dale, who had not long held that name.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith also returned Monday night of this week as the boys can—or at least did—certify to.

Messrs. Shaw and Park who for some time past have held undisputed the title of "Snow Shoe—Pine Glen nocturnal Pedestrians" have abandoned the route which gave them the title—chiefly owing to the lack of an attractive Terminus at the Pine Glen end.

We beg to call the attention of the Runville Correspondent to an error he made in the use of a word last week. It was in that sentence where he requested us to "Go way back and sit down". Now the ordinary signification of the word "go", as we understand it, is simply "to perambulate thitherward" and "back" denotes something very remote, as for instance, "Runville is a back number". Now as everybody will allow that Snow Shoe is several degrees less remote than Runville, their conclusion is self-evident: namely, that the proper verb to use in this case would be one meaning exactly the opposite to "go", and after some hours spent in laboriously scanning Webster's Unabriged we find the word "come" which means "to approach" or "to draw near." Therefore to sum up: we naturally infer that you meant to invite us to "COME way back and sit down". Now after having figured out a plain statement of the case we beg to decline to "come way back" to them for fear we should become infected and never again attain our present flourishing state. We are sorry that it was necessary to decline this request through these columns as you intimated that you are averse to publicity; but not being able to procure a postage stamp on such short notice, it was really our sole alternative. You need not make any reply as we will consider your apology as made and accept it. However, in the future you should beware and not get yourself into any discussion—not even in self defense—with such a lofty (lofty in more ways than one) proposition as SNOW SHOE.

Barn Burned.

The large bank barn 35 X 91 ft., on the farm owned by the Benjaman Holter heirs, located about 3 miles north of Howard, and occupied by Christain Holter was burned to the ground with all its contents, together with a large stable and shed and a building over the well at the barn on Monday afternoon Nov. 2nd. In the barn was Mr. Holters almost entire crop consisting of about 250 bushels of wheat, 250 bu. of buckwheat, some rye, all his oats crop, harness, bobsleds, windmill, sleigh, spring wagon and everything unsually found in a barn, all of which was burned. In the large shed his buggy, mower, grain drill nearly new, the drill belong to Mr. Henry Thompson, was burned, around and near the barn a good wagon with ladders and a lot of phosphate was also burned.

The origan of the fire is a profound mystery. About 2 o'clock Mr. Holter went into the barn to get some feed for his stock. He had scarcely gotten to his hog pen when his daughter Mollie, who had been swinging in the barn, hearing a strange noise overhead, ran out and discovered the barn on fire. She called to her father to save the horses, and by an almost miraculous escape with their lives, he and Lot Haines, his hireling, succeeded in getting the horses from the stabie, two calves and a lot of chickens perished.

The loss falls heavy on Mr. Holter, as the result of his years labor is all gone, there being no insurance on the contents. The barn is insured. His loss is from six to eight hundred dollars. Mr. Holter, who is seventy years of age, has lived all his life on this farm, has been a very industrious man, a good citizen and an excellent neighbor, and he and his family are deserving the deepest sympathy of the entire community.—Howard Hustler.

COLES FOR NOVEMBER.

All Sorts of Predictions For the Thanksgiving Month.

Welcome to the month of November. Let us one and all be truly thankful for all the many blessings that have been bestowed upon us. The summer is past, the harvest is ended, and although you may not be as well blessed with nature's goods as your neighbor, be not dismayed, but thankful, for sowing and reaping to most of us is a strange mixture of joys and sorrows, hopes and fears, bright anticipations and disappointments—but the months are rolling on and the beautiful sun shines just as brightly and freely. The sun entered sign Scoripio on October 22nd, and is in this sign until November 22nd. Children born between the above dates will be independent and inclined to be very domineering. When angry have a strong temper, having a loving disposition, but are inclined to be jealous. Will be most likely to kidney trouble, etc. We have reasons believe that November will prove a very peculiar month. Parents should look well to the health of their children. Keep your system in good order, as diphtheria, rheumatism and chest trouble will be prevalent. There will be seventeen High Flood days in all, against thirteen Low Ebb days, which will be the following days: 7th, 8th, 11th, 12th, 13th, 14th, 15th, 20th, 21st, 22nd, 25th, 26th and 27th. These days should be well guarded. Business will be treacherous and unsteady. Watch out for accidents both on land and sea; miners should be on their guard and watch out for "caveing," as the electrical and magnetic currents are greatly unbalanced on account of the sun's rays being thrown out of their natural channel by high 'sun spots' forming on the sun. Unusual brilliant "Northern Lights" and also destructive storms along the coast may be expected. An epedemic of la grippe and pneumonia will spread over America and the Old Country. The first storm period this month will be due the first few days, followed by a reactionary temperature and sharp and frosty weather. From the 8th to the 15th also on or about the date of new moon, the 19th, very active storms of rain, sleet and snow, also fierce gales, will sweep over the country. Do not be surprised if storms of rain, with lightning and thunder, prevail in many sections.

Growth of State College.

Within the last few years The Pennsylvania State College has grown so rapidly as to become the sixth or seventh in the United States in the number of its Engineering students. The Freshman Class just entered numbers upwards of 280, of whom 227 are in Engineering, Courses: 6 in Mining Engineering, 52 in Mechanical Engineering, 71 in Civil Engineering, and 98 in Electrical Engineering. The total number in attendance is about 650, and the increase has been so large and so rapid as to tax the accommodations of the College to the utmost. The erection of a temporary Dormitory, capable of accommodating 40 students, relieved in congestion at the opening of the session, and the completion of a Track and Club-house, now under way, with rooms for 35 students, will insure comfortable provision for the remainder of the present year. The probability is, however, that additional temporary Dormitories will have to be erected before the opening of the next College year, and fortunately, the ample grounds, with an ample plant for furnishing steam heat and electric light, will make such quarters entirely comfortable and attractive.

The Auditorium, the funds for which were contributed by Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Schwab, at a cost of upwards of $150,000, is now in daily use, and is one of the most beautiful and effective College buildings in the United States.

The Library, for which Mr. Andrew Carnegie has given $150,000, is well under way, and is to be dedicated next Spring.

The Dairy wing of the Agricultural Building, for which the last Legislature appropriated $100,000, is still further advanced, and is to be dedicated early in January, 1904, when Secretary Wilson, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, has promised to deliver the address. Two additional Laboratories have been fitted up for the Department of Electrical Engineering, and a temporary frame building has been erected for the Foundry. Additional room for the Mining Department has been found by rehabilitating the old Mechanic Arts Building, and 8 Instructors have been added to the teaching force in the several Departments.

Uses For Paper.

There are many by-uses paper other than the generally accepted ones. Do you want a sure and almost instant relief for croup or severe colds involving the throat and upper bronchial tube? Then take a piece of common brown paper about four by six inches in size, spread with vaseline or lard, or any kind of soft grease that may be handy; then grate nutmeg thickly over it and apply to the throat or chest and you will be surprised at the result.

When cleaning windows try soft paper for rubbing them up. The resultant brilliancy will charm the most "pernikety" housekeeper. For mirrors soft paper is equally valuable.

The paper vest is especially valuable for those who must be exposed to the cold for many hours at a time. For this take heavy manila paper—flour sacks will do—rub it, to soften it some, what, then cut the vest so it will fasten to the neck, cover and line with thin material. Sew together, bind and finish with either buttons and buttonholes or hooks and eyes. This will be found better than chamois jacket or vest, which is usually worn beneath the clothing by men, hence must be kept on while indoors, while the paper vest, can easily be removed upon reaching shelter and as easily put on again when needed.

A man who spent many winters in lumber camps said that before putting on his boots he would wrap strips of paper round his feet, over the stockings, consequently never suffered from cold feet, though out in the forest for hours when the thermometer was below zero.

If there is a scarcity of bedding in winter, or if too great a weight of bed clothes not liked, try newspapers spread beneath the outside covering. The paper will be found to supply as much warmth as an extra pair of blankets.

To Perpetuate Famous Fort.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., November 9.—Mrs. M. T. Scott, of Bloomington, vice president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution and president of the Illinois commission appointed by Governor Yates to purchase historic Fort Massac, visited the site near Metropolis, Ill., Thursday, accompanied by the other members of the commission.

After an inspection of the site, the necessary land was purchased to establish a state park and to perpetuate the famous fort constructed by General George Rogers Clark.

Metropolis, the capital of Massac county, Ill., is situated on the Mississippi river, thirty miles above Cairo, Ill., made famous by General Grant's first campaign in the civil war, and eleven miles below Paducah, Ky. General Clark, above named, led in the wars against the Indians in Illinois and Indiana from 1777 to 1782 and died at Louisville in 1818. He built Fort Massac as one of the points from which to operate in Southern Illinois to rid the Mississippi bottoms of the red men.

The Duchess and the Duke.

Since the marriage of Consuelo Vanderbilt to the Duke of Marlborough, no "international wedding" has occasioned such interest as the coming alliance of the Goelet fortunes and the Roxburghe titles. Miss May Goelet is the richest girl in the world, a beauty, and every one admits that the Duke of Roxburghe has won a prize. What manner of man is he? From hitherto unpublished family portraits and interesting facts about the famous English family, readers of next Sunday's New York World will glean an excellent idea of the young duke and his standing. Besides these, The Sunday World will present many interesting portraits of Miss Goelet.

Etters—Barry.

On the morning of Oct. 28, Geo. W. Etters and Mrs. Matilda C. Barry were united in marriage in the Allison Memorial Methodist Episcopal personage at Carlisle, Pa., by the Rev. Wilford P Shriner, D. D.

The bride was handsomely gowned in a brown cloth traveling suit and with the groom left on the 10:44 a. m. trains for a bridal tour to Philadelphia and other eastern cities.

The groom is a resident of Philadelphia where he is employed in erecting structural iron and is prominently known in the church circles of the United Brethren church. Mrs. Etters will be remembered as a former resident of Bellefonte, a few months ago she moved to Harrisburg.

Teachers Who Marry.

A young woman teacher in a New York school has been summoned for trial before the board of education for her failure to resign when she was married. She proposes to test the constitutionality of the rule which provides that no married woman may teach. This rule is quite general, and no doubt it has prevented many women teachers from marrying.

It is obvious, says the Record, that except in the view of school boards marriage is not a crime. That women should marry and establish homes is held to be a duty to society and to the nation; yet when a teacher, no matter how well qualified for her duties, fulfils this missions she is compelled to relinquish her work. Probably the contention of the teacher in this case will be that as the male teacher is not subjected to any penalty for marriage, it is an unwarranted, unjust and illegal discrimination to impose a penalty on the woman.

In this day of threatened race suicide it is by no means certain that marriage will interfere in any degree with the efficiency of a teacher. To anticipate such interference is not warranted in a particular case. Since the court refused to sustain the board which dismissed a teacher because she received a beau four nights in a week, it is obvious that a teacher may not be dismissed for having interests outside the school—say a husband. It is certainly no concern of the board whether a woman shall use her well-earned salary to support a home, and it is also clear that a husband may be less of an interference with her work than is a beau. It may be reasonable for the authorities to discourage the marriage of teachers with men who cannot support them, but it is doubtful if there be legal right to dismiss a teacher who shall marry.

Indian Summer.

This period of warm weather occurring so late in the autumn is no doubt the Indian summer usually characterized by a clear sky, and by a hazy or smooky appearance of the atmosphere, especially near the horizon. The name is derived from the custom of the Indians to use this time of the year in hunting and by laying in stores of food for the winter.

THE LITTLE COUNTRY PAPER.

When the evenin' shade is fallin' at the endin' o' the day,
An' a feller rests from labor smokin' at his pipe o' clay,
There's nothin' does him so much good, be fortune up or down,
As the little country paper from his
Ol'
Home
Town.

It ain't a thing o' beauty an' its print ain't always clean,
But it straightens out his temper when a feller's feelin' mean,
It takes the wrinkles off his face an' brushes off the frown,
That little country paper from his
Ol'
Home
Town

It tells of all the parties an' the balls of Pumkin Row,
'Bout who spent Sunday with who's girl an' how th' crops'll grow,
An' how it keeps a feller posted 'bout who's up an' who is down,
That little country paper from his
Ol'
Home
Town.

Nok, I like to read the dailies an' the story papers, too,
An' at times the yaller novels an' some other trash—don't you?
But when I want some readin' that'll brush away a frown
I want that little paper from my
Ol'
Home
Town.

BLUE JACKETS LANDED.

Lives of Americans in Colon, Colombia, Threatened

FLEE TO PLACES OF SAFETY

Prefect Refuses to Relinquish Post—Colombian Flag Still Flies Over His Headquarters—But Already that of New Republic Appearing.

GREAT COMMOTION IN THE CITY

COLON, November 5.—General Guadros, the prefect of Colon, and the senior officer commanding the troops, which arrived Tuesday on the gunboat Cartagena from Savanilla, are maintaining their position of refusing to acknowledge the authority of the provisional government of Panama and the troops still refuse to return to Savanilla.

The lives of the American residents are threatened. American and foreign families are flocking for shelter to the railroad building.

There is great commotion there. The United States gunboat Nashville has landed about 50 blue jackets and a quantity of ammunition.

The Colombian gunboat Cartagena has just left the harbor, headed northeast. It is surmised that she is going with all speed to Savanilla.

The Colombian flag still flies over the Prefecture. The flag of the new Republic of Panama has already made its appearance in Colon.

A dispatch has been received from Bogota, dated November 2, saying that Congress has closed without initiating legislation on the canal project.

New York, November 5—Arturo de Brigard, Colombian Consul General in this city, said Wednesday: "The revolution at Panama had been foreseen for some time. It was brought on undeniably by the failure of Colombian Congress to ratify the canal treaty. The department of Panama is naturally much interested in having the canal dug. It means prosperity for a province which is now not only impoverished, but not even self-supporting. What Panama left to itself, will do for funds is a question. Every two weeks the Federal government at Bogota has had to send money to Panama in order to defray the expenses of the local administration, With this source of supply cut off famine looms up as inevitable.

"Aside from the loss in men, a civil war at this time would completely devitalize the country, and yet I don't see how the Bogota government can avoid it. It certainly will not concede autonomy to Panama. The only way in sight would seem to me to be the entering into negotiations of the government of Colombia with the government of the United States for a new canal treaty.

Washington, November 5—A point has been made that under the treaty of 1846 the United States guarantees the rights of the sovereignty and property of Colombia on the Isthmus. But attention is now called to the fact that this treaty was made with New Granada, a nation of which Colombia formed only a fraction and there is nothing to prevent the United States government from reorganizing further subdivision of the original territory of Grenada. This conclusion may have an important bearing on the future of the canal project as indicating that the United States is not absolutely bound to make a treaty with Colombia alone if it wishes to open a canal.

Senator Cullom, chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, is much interested in the news of the revolution of Panama. He says he would be very glad if the revolutionists should establish a government in order that the United States might be able to negotiate a treaty and proceed with the construction of the canal.

A Clever Swindler.

PHILADELPHIA, November 5.—W. L. Diller, who was arrested Tuesday by Postal Inspectors at Harrisburg, charged with forging money orders, has, according to the authorities, operated in many cities. He is said to have confessed to securing about $300 during the last month, one of the forged orders being cashed at the Corn Exchange National Bank here. Complaints of altered money orders were received by the Postal Inspectors from Harrisburg, Steelton, Lancaster and Baltimore, and the officers found that Diller, under the name of W. L. Yates, had private postoffice boxes in Harrisburg, Baltimore, Pittsburg and this city. Chief Postal Inspector Dickson said yesterday: "Diller is a dangerous man and his work is excellent."

The prisoner's father lives here. Dillen is about 26 years old and has been an actor for five years. At the time of his arrest pawn tickets aggregating $500 and representing goods valued at $5,000 were found in his possession.

HE COULD HARDLY GET UP.

T. H. Duffy of Ashley, Ill., writes, "This is to certify that I have taken two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure and it has helped me more than any other medicine. I tried many advertised remedies, but none of them gave me any relief. My druggist recommended Foley's Kidney Cure and it has cured me. Before commencing its use I was in such a shape that I could hardly get up when once down.,, C. M. Parrish.

SYNOD WANTS MONEY.

Reformed People Desire Funds With Which to Build College.

Lebanon, Nov. 10.—Home and foreign missions took up the time of the Eastern synod of the Reformed church at its closing sessions last week.

The synod fixed the assessment for church building at six cents per member; appointed a committee from the several classes to raise $4,000 for a boys' school in China; appointed counsel to defend the synod at general council in the Helfrich and Keiffer cases; recommended that next June there will be a celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of missionary work in Japan-accepted the general synod apportionment of home and foreign missionary work; appointed Nov. 8 as home mission Sunday, Feb. 9 as foreign missionary Sunday, March 6 as bible day and urged the several classes to devise means for raising $25,000 needed for building the college in Japan.

The Rev. C. E. Schaeffer, secretary of home missions, reported the existence of 104 missions, the receipt of $34,000 for that work during the past year, and said that $155,000 is invested in 110 building funds.

The Rev. Allen R. Bartholomew, secretary of foreign missions, reported the receipt of $66,305 during the year. He said that $25,000 is needed for a college in Japan. President C. E. Creitz, of Reading was elected trustee and S. M. Gingrich re-elected treasurer of the synod.

Something to Please Everyone.

The Ladies Aid of the Methodist church will give a supper in the lecture room of the church next Thursday evening, Nov. 12, Price twenty-five cents.

The chief feature of the evening will be the Ladies Home Journal booth at which subscriptions to the Ladies Home Journal and Saturday Evening Post will be sold. The merits of these publications are too widely known to need advertising from us. It is enough to say that they are worth much more than the subscription price and anyone who wants to treat himself or a friend to the best of all Xmas presents should secure one or both of these papers. The Ladies Home Journal is a monthly for $1.00, the Saturday Evening Post a weekly for $1.25—this being a special price at this booth as the regular price is $2.00.

Copies of illustrations from the famous artists, who illustrate for these papers, will be auctioned off.

No admission will be charged and everyone may see this beautifully decorated booth and examine the periodicals offered for sale.

Please Consider.

Girls did you ever consider that boys have more self-respect than you have. There is not a young man of any respectability that would be seen with a drunken girl. You might search the streets with a fine tooth comb and not find a young man who would lock arms and go promenading with a "lady" who is puffing a cigarette or squirting tobacco juice on the sidewalk.

Girls have no hesitancy in accepting the company of such characters and are too anxious for the companionship of almost anything that wears pants. Society will be refined when the girls demand of the boys the same purity of character that the boys demand of the girls. Over the heads of the young ladies of this land hangs the possibilities of the greatest moral reform that has ever swept over the country.

The Bad Ones.

An exchange says: In the begining God created the heavens and the earth, the editor, then the advertiser—which was all good. The next day it snowed and He created the man who does not believe in advertising and another who does not take the home paper. And then the devil got into the moulding room and created the man who takes the paper for several years and fails to pay for it. After he had completed that sorry job and having a few lumps left, he created the excuse of a man who settles his subscription by instructing the postmaster to mark his paper "refused."

BEING INVESTIGATED

The Death of Martin Loew, a Student in University of Maryland

FOUND DEAD IN HIS ROOM

His Roommate, Ephriam Stone, Was Found Unconscious Beside the Bed in Their Boarding House.

SECRET SOCIETY MEN IN TROUBLE

BALTIMORE, November 10-The police are investigating the cause of the death of Martin Loew, 27 years of age, a student in the dental department of the University of Maryland, whose lifeless body was found yesterday in his room at his boarding house. His roommate, Ephriam Stone, 23 years of age, was lying unconscious beside the bed. Loew is from Silesia, Germany, and Stone hails from Capetown, South Africa, Loew, it is said, has relatives in New York city. His body is at the morgue.

It is said that the men were initiated last week into the Phi Psi Chi, a college fraternity of which many of the students at the university are members. From bruises on the bodies of the three men, it would seem that they had been roughly handled, whether from the initiation or otherwise is not known. An inquest and post mortem examination was held by the authorities today. Stone has been removed to the Maryland university hospital. He has regained consciousness, it is reported by the physicians, but they will permit no one to see him. He was said to be in an improved condition last night.

Stanley D. Smith, of St. John, N. B. president of the fraternity, was arrested last night on the technical charge of assault. Twenty-five members of the society have been cited to appear before the coroner's jury to testify.

Late last night Stone made a rambling statement as to the experience of himself and Loew during Saturday night. Neither was physically able to assist the other, he said, although each thought the other was dying in great agony. He claims that the bruises on the bodies of himself and Leow are due to "hazing" by their classmates, but admits that he and Leow had been recently initiated into the Phi Psi Chi fraternity.

MARY HAD SOME LITTLE CHICKS.

(With Apologies to the Author of Mary Had a Little Lamb.)

Mary had some lovely chicks,
Their feathers white as snow
And everywhere that Mary went
These chicks were sure to go.

When Mary went out Thomas street
Or up the garden walk;
These chicks would follow after
And daze her with their talk.

So these chicks talk all at once
Chattering through their peaks;
Try to talk each other down
Just as they do at Meeks.

They talked to her about her age,
About her hair being gray
And said if you'll try again,
We'll all begin to lay.

Talked about her happy life
Some thirty years ago;
When Mary wore a balmoral,
Had every night a beau.

So the chicks kept up the talk
Just in a chickens way;
Till Mary with her gingham bib
Shoo'd all the chicks away.

So Mary with a far off look
And tear drops in her eyes
Sank upon the garden walk
In tears and sobs and cries,

So we close these Summer Days
The Chicks are in their Cage
The story reads like Fiction Sure or life upon the Stage.

WEST WARD POET LAUREATE.

Infant Agriculture,

Agriculture being the first occupation of civilized man and pursued by millions for thousands of centuries, one naturally thinks of it as old. But Mr. Wilson, our able secretary of agriculture, declares that we have hardly made a beginning of understanding this great science. Hear him: "Agriculture is in its infancy. We have not yet begun. It is a new subject, so new in fact that its possibilities can not now be comprehended. It is a vast field and only the smallest part of it has been covered." So the experts, specialists and long experienced need not flatter themselves that they know it all. They know something, of course, but comparatively nothing besides what remains to be learned.

Annual Thanksgiving Proclamation

By the President of the United States of America:

A PROCLAMATION.

The season is at hand when, according to the custom of our people, it falls upon the president to appoint a day of praise and thanksgiving to God.

During the last year the Lord has dealt bountifully with us, giving us peace at home and abroad and the chance for our citizens to work for their welfare unhindered by war, famine or plague, It behooves us not only to rejoice greatly because of what has been given us, but to accept it with a solemn sense of responsibility, realizing that under Heaven it rests with ourselves to show that we are worthy to use aright what has thus been entrusted to our care. In no other place and at no other time has the experiment of government of the people, for the people been tried on so vast a scale as here in our own country in the opening years of the twentieth century. Failure would not only be a dreadful thing for us, but a dreadful thing for all mankind, because it would mean loss of hope for all who believe in the power and righteousness of liberty. Therefore, in thanking God for the mercies extended to us in the past, we beseech Him that He may not withhold them in the future, and that our hearts may be roused to war steadfastly for good and against all the forces of evil, public and private. We pray for strength, and light, so that in the coming years we may with cleanliness, fearlessness and wisdom do our allotted work on earth in such manner as to show that we are not altogether unworthy of the blessings we have received.

Now, therefore, I, Theodore Roosevelt, president of the United States, do hereby designate as a day of general thanksgiving Thursday, the twenty-sixth of November, and do recommend that throughout the land people cease from their wonted occupations, and in their several homes and places of worship render thanks unto Almighty God for his manifold mercies.

Attempt to Burn Whole Family.

A fiend tried wholesale murder near the village of Mooresburg, a few miles east of Milton one night recently. Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Klarsh and six children were saved by the providental awakening of one of the daughters. The Klarsh family occupied an old fashioned log farm house, covered with pine clapboard.

At midnight Miss Klarsh was awakened by a glaring light upon her face, and found a sheet of flames shooting up past her bedroom window. There was also the strong smell of burning kerosene. She awakened the family, and they all escaped unharmed.

It was discovered that an incendiary had first saturated a large bundle of straw with kerosene, then, placing the straw against the clapboards, had set fire to it.

Ten minutes more and there would have been no escape for the inmates, for the flames were eating into the tinderlike structure along the entire end. Mr. Klarsh believes he has a clew by which the authorities can run down the incendiary.

—Many of the words used by the Americans in Cuba and the Philippines have no Spanish equivalent. The people have, therefore, transferred them bodily in their own language; but when they use the letters with the Spanish values. For instance, only one familiar with Spanish would know that "diabun" was pronounced "jawbone." It is easier to recognize "Yanqui blof" and "ponkin pai," and it does not take much imagination to discover "goodby" in the Cuban "gubbai." Thus does language grow, not elegantly, nor in accordance with the strict rules of the purist; but with considerable picturesque vigor.—Ex.

—The famous Lincoln car, which has been in the possession of the Union Pacific Railroad for thirty-seven years, was sold recently to persons who will exhibit it at the St. Louis exposition. For many years the car has stood on a siding in the Union Pacific yards in Omaha, without attracting more than passing attention. It was part of the railroad exhibits at the Chicago and Omaha expositions. The car was built at the military shops at Alexandria, Va., in 1864, and was ironclad, armor being set between the inner and outer walls. It carried the remains of the martyred President to Springfield, and was then sold to the Union Pacific road.

—The question has been raised as to what Judge Bell's salary will be after Jan. 1, 1904. The act of assembly of April 14, 1903, fixing the salaries of the judges of the various courts of Pennsylvania, gives $5,000 a year to the judge of a county having a population of less than 90,000 and $7,000 where the county has only one judge and a population of between 90,000 and 500,000. Although Blair county has undoubtedly over 90,000, the last official census only gives it 85.099, and Judge Bell's salary will depend upon whether or not the law recognies only the census figures.—Tyrone Herald.

—Butchering has started with farmers induced by last week's cool weather. Should mild weather set in again, those who have held over will abide until favorable cool weather sets in again, when sausage, wurst, ponhaus, fresh pork and buckwheat cakes will rule the tables of farmers and others, followed by "speck un sauerkrout." Talk about your first class hotel grub—its no patch to a well-set farmer's tables with its well-cooked food, all of it pure, wholesome, palatable, with none of the adulteration that enters into the prepared foods, put out by factories, so detrimental to health.

—At this season most readers are fond of interesting bear stories. Here is one from the Lock Haven Democrat: The largest bear shot this season in this section was brought down Wednesday in the woods near Haneyville by a boy—Edward Packard. The young hunter was running through the bushes with a trusty Winchester over his arm, when a short distance ahead he espied bruin. The animal discovered the presence of the hunter about the same time and made for him. Young Packard, who kept his nerve, pointed his gun at the big bear, which was then approaching dangerously near, on its hind feet, ready to embrace the hunter, and make a meal of him. On the first crack of the rifle bruin dropped with a ball through the head, which entered between and back of the eyes. A second shot went through the animal's body. The huge brute weighed 350 pounds.

—The Pennsylvania railroad company has decided to eliminate the summer vacation among a large percentage of their employes, and hereafter they will be gived a day off each month and during the summer will be expected to continue their work without interruption.

—The Ladies of the M. E. Church will serve another one of their delicious chicken suppers in the Dining room of the church corner of Spring and Howard street, this evening Everybody invited to come and bring your friends. A good social time is promised and plenty to eat including apple and pumpkin pie.

—The stave mill belonging to John Dreese, located one mile east of Hecla Gap, was burned Thursday night of last week. The mill took fire from forest fires that were raging in the neighborhood. Harbaugh, for many years connected with the church and Sabbath school, and active in both, but who Thursday left for Beaver Falls his future home. The evening was pleasantly spent and refreshments served. Mr. Harbaugh carries with him the esteem of all.

—An editor, near Custer, Indian Territory, got a cattle show and concert mixed in making up, and now he has to keep dark. This is the way he did it: The concert given by Robinson's most beautiful young ladies was highly appreciated. They sang in their charming manner, winning the plaudits of the entire audience, who pronounced them the finest herd of shorthorns in the country. A few are of rich brown color, but the majority are spotted brown and white.

—The Clearfield council recently passed an ordinance forbidding persons canvassing from house to house for the purpose of selling groceries, etc., until they have paid a license for so doing. When it comes down to the point of protecting our home merchants such an ordinance should be passed in this city. There is an Ordinance of the same character in Bellefonte, and Burgess Walker has been enforcing it to the best of his ability. If the people of the Borough would simply ask canvassers who call to see them whether they have a license or not it would be of great benefit and assistence to the Burgess. In case canvassers do not have the proper license they should be reported at once to the proper officer.

—As a result of the argument before Judge Love Thursday the preliminary injunction restraining the supervisors of Spring township from paying to contractor James McCafferty the $660,07 due him for building the stone arch bridge near Commissioner A. V. Miller's home at Pleasant Gap was dissolved at the cost of the plaintiff, who is K. B. Taylor, McCafferty was represented by Col. W. F. Reeder and J. C. Meyer Esq. represented Mr. Taylor. The latter appealed from the decree and the case is again tied up pending an appeal to the supreme court. Mr. Taylor was one of the contractor's bondsmen and claimed to have finished the work himself, when McCafferty did not push it as rapidly as he thought it ought to be done.

—For some time the railroad authorities at this place have been annoyed by a lot of reckless boys jumping trains of all kinds and riding wherever they pleased. Notwithstanding their protestations the boys kept it up at every opportunity. In order to put a stop to the practice and teach the lads that there was a severe penalty connected with the act, special railroad police Fred Guiles was sent here and the first day he nabbed two lads, Merril Monagal and Michael Meyers, and took them before Justice Keichline who fixed their fine at ten dollars each and costs. Not having any funds they were sent up on the hill to board with Sheriff Taylor. The parents appeared later and, when they learned the nature of the case and the amount involved and being of limited means, they concluded best to let the boys serve the time in the hope that it would teach them a valuable lesson. This happened about two weeks ago and the boys are out again, but up to this time the practice of jumping trains has been checked. The railroad company are justified in taking this course for the reason that most any time they are likely to grind some thoughtless lad under the wheels. There are enough fatalities in the railroad business incurred by those on duty, without any more unnecessarily being crippled or killed.

The Stranger Within Our Gates Deserve Better Treatment.

[Communicated.]

BELLEFONTE, PA. Nov. 10th, 1903.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:

DEAR SIR:—Please permit me space enough in your valuable paper to note what seems to be unjust and undue treatment to the Western Star Jubilee Singers who gave a most excellent entertainment in Petrikin Hall Monday evening. The Western Star Singers arrived at the Penna. depot on the 1:05 p. m. train Monday and inconsequence of there being no previous arrangements for their accommodation, they were compelled to sit or stand around the depot until 2 o'clock p. m. and possibly later. This circumstance brings to our mind the same thing occurred to the company that sang in Petrikin Hall last year and in each case they have had to remain about the depot for an hour or more before getting accommodations. Now, it does seem with the knowledge of the existing cast prejudice, among the hotel keepers of our town who do and have repeatedly refused to accomodate colored men and women in their hotels, it would be just and right that proper accommodations be secured for them as well as white companies by those who secure their services, and avoid that unpleasant and humiliating experience which certainly comes to them from having to loiter about a railroad station which is so monotonous to every one and the worst feature of all not knowing where they were to go.

We have no recollection of ever having seen a cleaner or more intelligent looking company of colored men and women upon the stage in Bellefonte, than we had the pleasure of seeing and listening to Monday night. Their music was good and their deportment was such as become ladies and gentlemen and well merited accomodations at any public house in this or, any other town in Pennsylvania. We earnestly look forward to the time when men of the more favored race will throw away the narrow prejudices they retain against a race who are striving with all their might and means to rise higher in the scale of moral, intellectual and industrial worth, as is being demonstrated in every part of this great Republic.
